

BSI helped us to ensure quality and consistency within our business operations, enabling us to deliver best practice and adhere to regulatory obligations

In brief

DNG Energy is an integrated energy resources and infrastructure company that specialises in the development of natural gas infrastructure and provision of natural gas across various market sectors. DNG is a proudly South African company founded in 2013 that has invested millions to bring together some of the brightest, ablest and most willing minds in the world, in the fields of oil and gas, energy and power, logistics and project management, to give practical effect to their belief. Their belief being in the power of natural gas to ignite a new, brighter era for the country.

The benefit

"This certification will help us earn the trust of our valued customers. It represents consistency, excellence and commitment to quality. This certification is a win for DNG Group as it represents the hard work from staff members who are passionate professionals and experts in their respective fields who made sure that we reach this huge milestone. Having 3 business division i.e. DNG Energy, DNG Petroleum and DNG Marine certified at once is a big win for us.

Being certified is part of our journey as we are repositioning our business from projects development mode into a corporate organisation poised to become a major gas to power supplier and a fuel distributor.

DNG Energy has received final authorisation from the Transnet National Port Authority (TNPA) to begin liquefied natural gas (LNG) bunkering operations in the Port of Coega, in the Eastern Cape, South Africa.

If you believe you can be first in class and best in a category."

“I believe DNG is a place that enables growth for the professionals we employ, growth for the business and our partners, and positive change in the lives of ordinary people in the areas where we operate. We are truly committed to energising a brighter future – lighting up communities and enabling brighter futures through education, skills development and skills transfer at every opportunity.”

Group Chief Executive Officer

Client challenge

“We look forward to playing our part in ensuring energy security for our country, rebuilding the economy and providing cleaner affordable energy solutions across Africa. But to achieve this goal we have to ensure that we have structured internal processes, we follow safe and good quality manufacturing processes and we concern ourselves with good occupational health, hygiene & environmental matters. Without this certification we wouldn't be able to continuously improve our overall performance and focus on providing our customers with products and services of consistent quality.”

BSI solution

The DNG Group is a dynamic company that is expanding at an exponential speed. BSI took the time to understand what the current need was and how the business will be expanding in the next few years. The team were kept informed about any potential changes /challenges that could affect the certification process. BSI was willing to work with the DNG personnel to ensure the best outcome, whilst still maintaining their independence. DNG is currently working on different energy project proposals and the BSI audit team was able to understand the processes and audit accordingly. DNG Group has already commenced with the implementation and future certification of 2 additional businesses.

Why BSI?

Pricing was not the deciding factor. BSI was willing to negotiate and understand the business's vision and was willing to take the leap to work with a new organisation.
